Welcome

Dear Sir or Madam,

Apart from the booming city centres and the shopping malls in the outskirts, in European cities there are more and more districts which are economically and structurally weakened, being seriously affected by enervated retail, increasing shop vacancy, move of inhabitants and economic, social and demographic decline. However, strong district centres are an indispensable part of sustainable cities.

Within the scope of the European project “Managing District Centres in Northwest Europe” (MANDIE) and under the lead partnership of the City of Stuttgart, eleven partners from Belgium, Germany, Netherlands and the UK have developed and tested varied methods to strengthen their district centres. The partners aimed at enhancing the attractiveness and economic performance of district centres, focusing on the key themes governance, marketing and retail. Besides, there have been involved local players and the project was accompanied by a scientific advisory board. With its activities, MANDIE is in accord with the postulations of the Leipzig Charter on Sustainable European Cities, with the Territorial Agenda 2020 of the European Union and the Lisbon Treaty.

To mark the beginning of the conference, the future importance of district centres and possible supportive measures will be discussed in high-ranking political speeches. After that, the examples of best-practice implemented by the project partners will illustrate key themes and challenges of district centre management.

We wish you a profitable listening and a pleasant participation in the discussions!

Dr. Wolfgang Schuster
Mayor City of Stuttgart

and the ten further partners of the MANDIE-Project
